

Spend a day with a Peruvian villager!

(Full day program!)

The tour is designed for people who have an extra day in the Colca valley and would like to spend it together with the locals and actively share their daily life.

Itinerary:

Breakfast at the hotel.

A Coporaque villager will take you to his home and together the day-work will be planned. We cannot exactly define what this day will look like as it depends on the season and weekday.

However, the normal activities run among others from support in the fields, herding animals, the preparation of land for sowing, or harvesting.

This experience includes lunch with your host family, whose main dishes are prepared with the local products such as Quinoa (Inca rice), potato, Oca, or rice. For your comfort the meal is prepared with attention to hygienic conditions.

After lunch you and your hosts will visit the natural hot springs of Coporaque, which are regularly used by the people of the village.

On the afternoon your host will accompany you on your way back to your hotel in Coporaque or Chivay.

Please note: Local people do not speak English, so be prepared to use at least some Spanish words along with your hands or to request a guide for translation (extra cost).
